Lexington High School

Lexington, Massachusetts

To over nine hundred students, Lexington High School is a world in itself. However, revolving in the same orbit as our school are the other three character forming institutions of American living: our homes, our churches, and our community. Since the school prepares us for life in another world after graduation, it must provide a varied educational program to meet the needs of all its citizens whether future college students, business people, or craftsmen. Even more important is the training for co-operating and working with others in our clubs, sports, classes, and everyday life all of which is directed for us by our faculty. It is this world—its people, its events, and its purpose—that we present to you in our yearbook this year.

OUR WORLD

The doors to the main office represent guidance, authority, and understanding in our world.

Scenes of Our Life — Page 11

Students gathering in the corridor to talk over the latest news, their sorrows and their joys is a common example of fellowship at Lexington High.

Cultural Horizons — Page 29

Symbolizing the creativeness and social responsibilities in our life is the art room.

The Realm of Sports — Page 53

Our gigantic gym, the center of our sports world, develops coordination and physical strength in our citizens.

Citizens of Our World — Page 67

Pupils leaving the school illustrate the fact that training derived in school is carried into the outer world.

LEXINGTON HIGH SCHOOL

Memorandum from the Principal's office

To each member of the Class of 1957:

Some day you will realize that one of the chief aims of this school has been to help you become capable and well-adjusted young people, able to get information independently, able to think and decide what you believe is right or important or valuable, able to share your ideas with others clearly and convincingly, and able to take your part as a leader or as a member of a group carrying out worthwhile purposes. In your classes and in your school activities your teachers have been giving you the training and the opportunities to develop your talents to the fullest extent so that you will be ready to take your part as a good citizen in the affairs of life ahead.

Realizing this, you will get more pleasure from looking through your Yearbook and recalling the happy events of your high school days.

One of the main streets of our world

SCENES OF OUR LIFE

OUR WORLD –

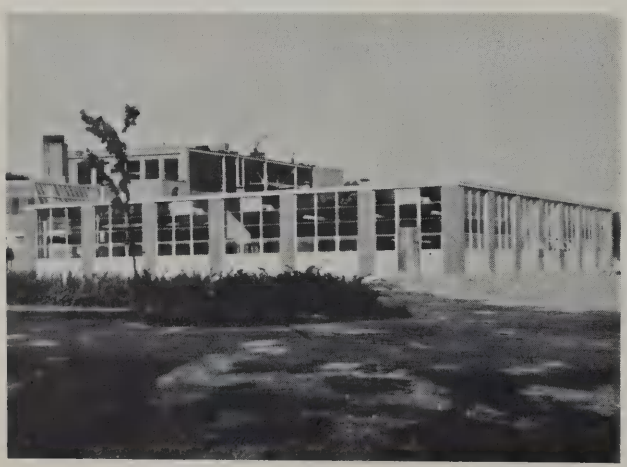
1957 was a year of great importance for us all. At Lexington High a classroom wing, an auditorium, and a shop wing were added to meet the growth of our population. The Seniors instituted the first Carnival and were the first to graduate from our new auditorium. We'll remember the second inauguration of President Eisenhower and the close elections preceding it. Elvis Presley's voice was heard by everyone everywhere. We recognized the significance of the Hungarian revolt and Middle East unrest. We anticipated with amazement the launching of the earth's first satellite as part of the geophysical world. All this and much more is 1957.

New classroom wing was completed this February to accommodate the growing population of our school world. In this modernistic addition are many comfortable and sunny rooms.

Layers of petticoats under full skirts are the pride of every girl in our generation. Here Linda Batchelder, Liz Bramley, and Ann Cahill compare their most recent additions in the crinoline department.

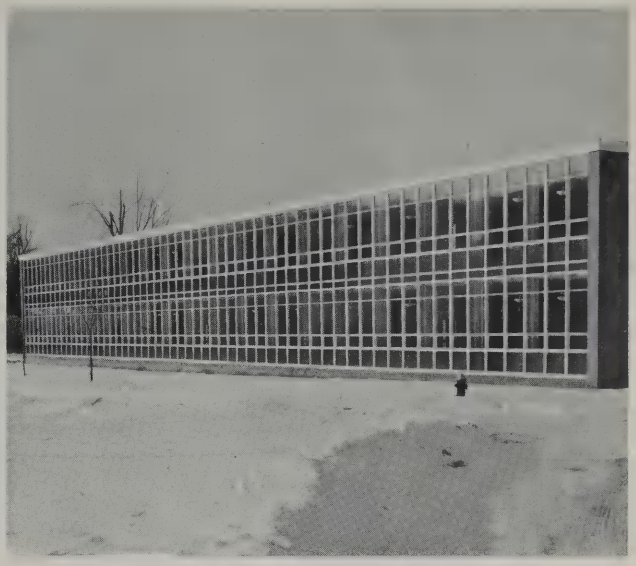
"Weak eye days may be the key action of the year, but they are not good quality in society," explains Mr. Warren as he reprimands capricious seniors, Ken Maurer, Dave Coomber, Bruce Burnham, Bob Moore, Bruce Boleyn, Dick Crowley, and Dick McLellan.

New construction proceeded on time as the shop wing was completed in early autumn.

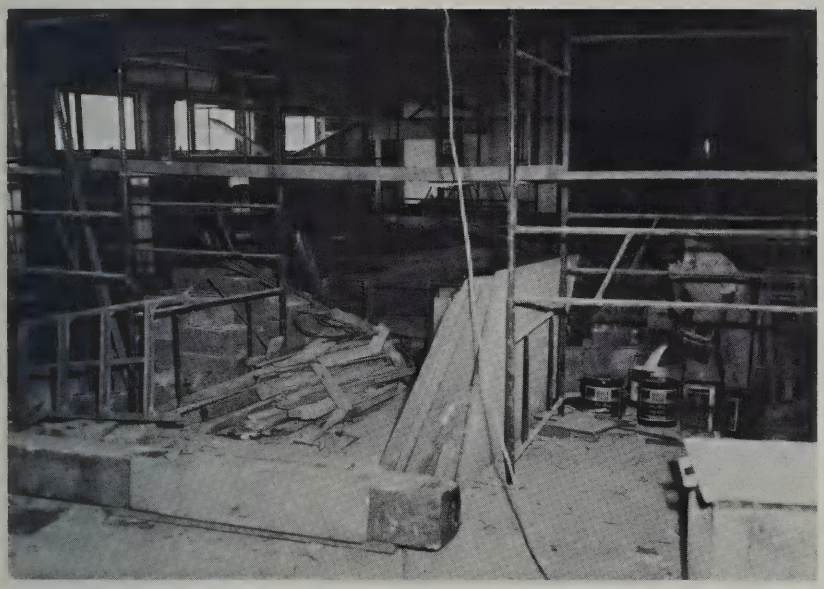


Gigantic jungle gym is climbed upon by agile workmen in the early stages of construction of the new wing.

The new 1200 capacity auditorium typifies "on the beam" as the slogan for progress this year. Work goes on hard and fast while school goes on inside.



An expanse of glass reveals the basic architectural design on which our new classroom wing is built. The natural sunlight adds a cheerful atmosphere to the rooms.



Interior of auditorium which in the winter was only a conglomeration of construction equipment is made ready for the 1957 graduation exercises.

Rage of the year is Elvis Presley whose recordings of "Love Me Tender," "Too Much," and "Don't Be Cruel" made teenage girls like Linda Wellington, Sally Holt, and Barbara Thambash swoon and gasp.

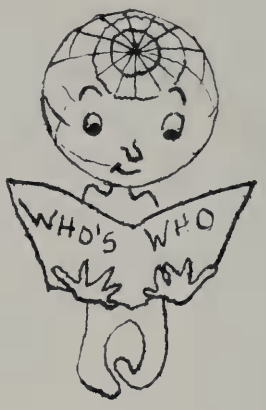
Regular corridor rush between periods shows the need to navigate an accurate course; otherwise, you're apt to end up where you started.

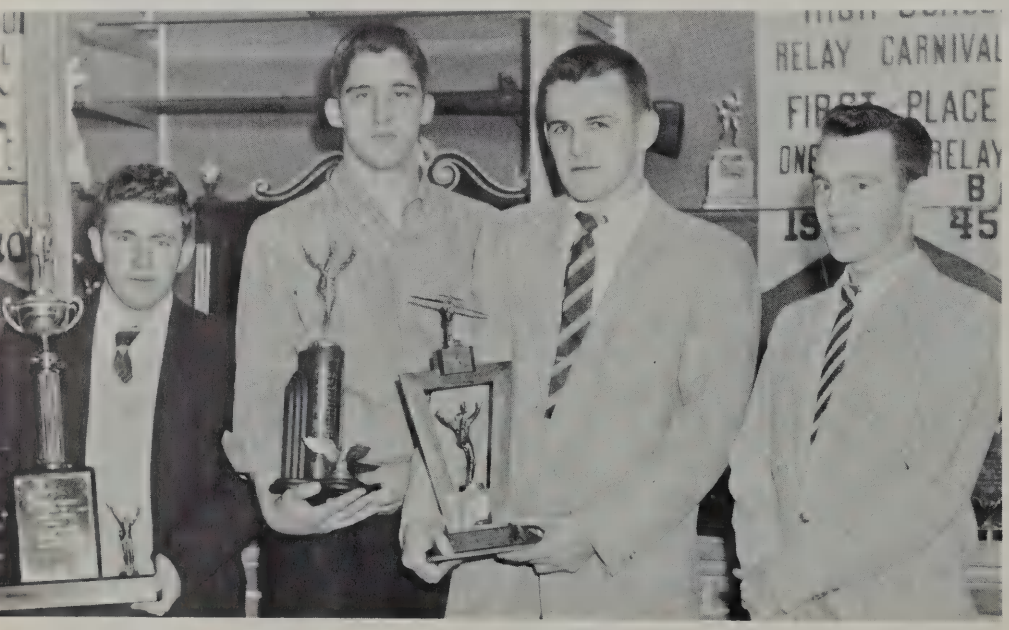
WHO'S WHO

American Field Service representatives, Ken Barclay and Marsha Patch, who visited Italy and France last summer; and Zeynep Alagur, our guest from Turkey, chuckle over mutual experiences of their memorable boat rides.

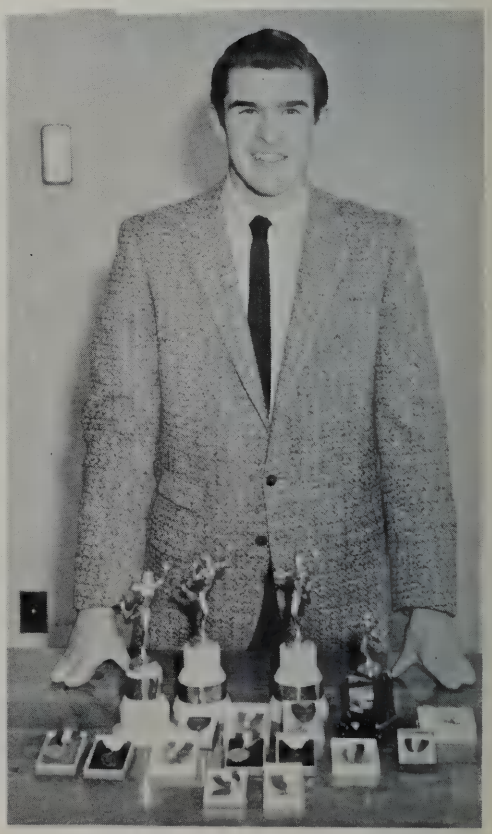


Hungarian Refugees, Emri and Erno Mosonyi (in sweaters), are helped to become acquainted with their new world by Jim Kyle and Dick Robbat (in suit jackets).

Paper planes being thrown by Camillo Sganga, our new student from Italy, shows how quickly he has adapted to American customs.



Displaying awards, our football heroes, Ed Hogan, Dave Cole, Ed Dever, and Sharkie Connor, stand proudly in front of the trophy case.



Mr. Track himself, Spike Paranya, exhibits his varied and extensive awards.

HELPING OTHER WORLDS

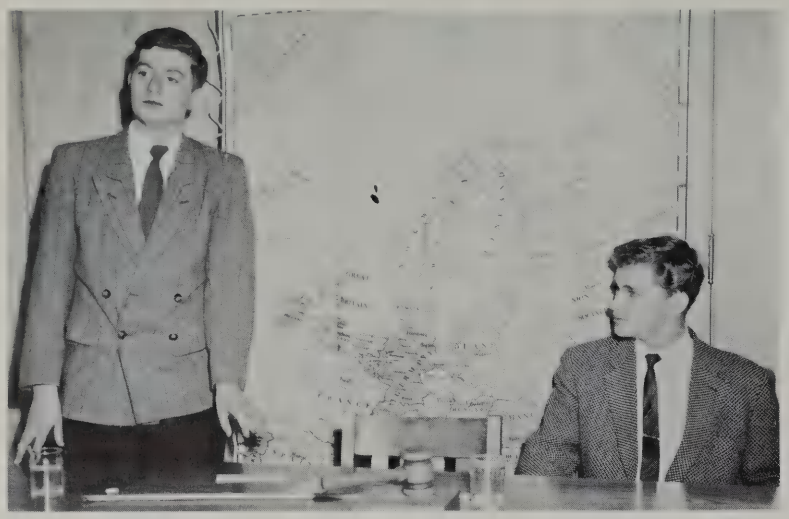
"March of Dimes Drive" is helped by Mr. MacAuley's contribution to Barbie Cairns, John Stewart, and Gus Shumacher, as they participate in the National Youth Drive.

Books! Books! and more books were collected by these student librarians, Sally Neale, Karen Olsen, Jay Jones, Judy Moore, and Donald Cole, to aid crippled children at Christmas time.

Hungarian Relief Committee, Marilyn Wood, John Overton, Cynthia Rich, and Martha Schecter, plan the drive for helping all Hungarians.

Polio Helpers, Betsy Jursk from Salem, Judy Vallari from Arlington, Barb Maurer from Lexington, Ruth Bailey from Kingston, and Jody Herbold from Lexington, form the word Salk with the different first letters of the name of their town in order to further the drive against polio.

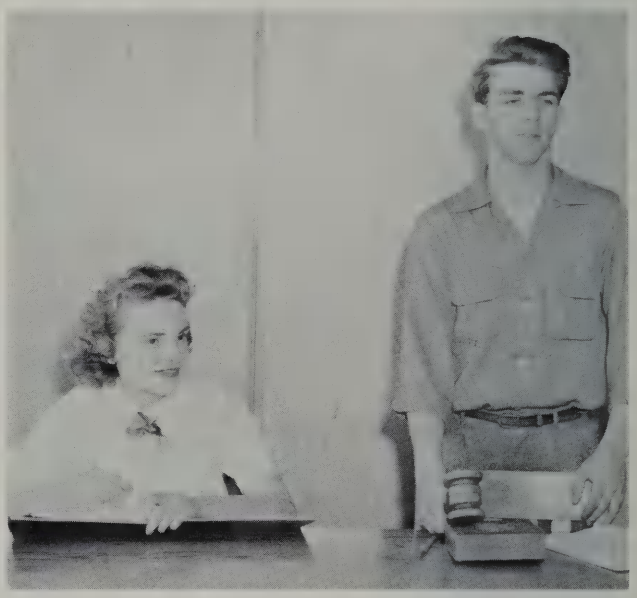
UNDERSTANDING OUR DEMOCRACY



Exchange of ideas is carried on by Karl-Dieter Buenting and Rolf Furtwaengler, visiting students from Germany, who tell us about their native land and their impressions of our country.

NATO study group, Dave Coomber, Zeynep Alagür, Mr. Gibson, Gus Schumacher, Spike Paranya, and Ruth Butler work on the organization's problems and the United States' commitments before going to a conference at the Beaver Brook School.

A panel discussion is presented by Pauline D'Abbraccio, Gail Sherman, Jackie Donovan, Jim Flanagan, and John Callahan on present-day labor problems.



Parliamentary procedure is used by Chairman Ken Fletcher and Secretary Betty Berglund in conducting a class.

Guest greeter, Janet Crowley, introduces herself to Mrs. Gicca, a practice teacher for American Problems, and welcomes her to the school.

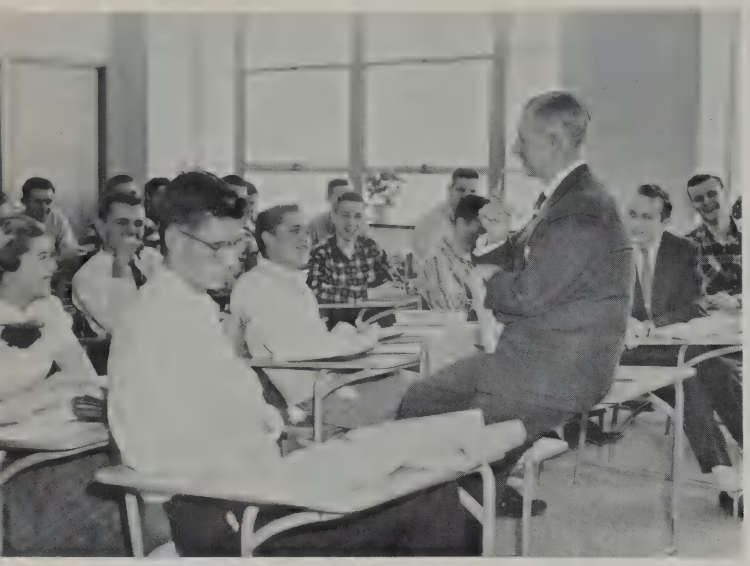
DEVELOPING SPECIAL INTERESTS

"Waxing a ski properly is very important to a good skier," explains Jim Day, president of the new L. H. S. Ski Club, to Barbara Kensley, Sally Ives, Berta Clements, Pat Crosby, Art Currier, Bill Johnston, and Louis Hathaway.

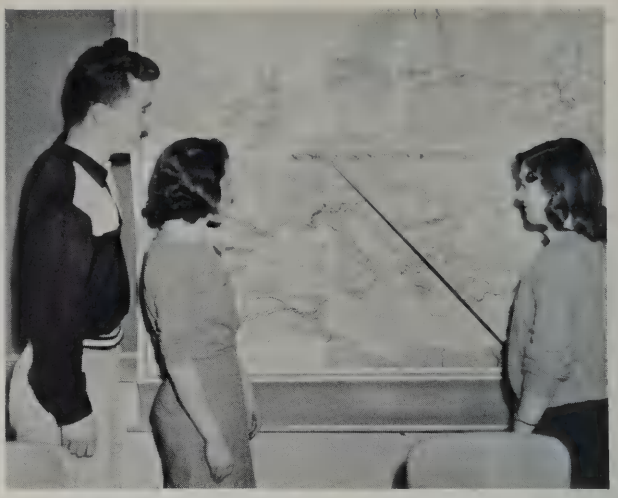
Senior Play afforded numerous opportunities for those interested in dramatics to change their character and appearance. Above, Pat Crosby is transformed into a maid by Mr. Tullar, makeup director. Below, Keith Knubbe and Dick Crowley are amused at the "improvement" in their aging features.

Future Teachers of America organized this year to increase interest among students for the teaching profession. Among its members and advisors are Sitting: Norma Julin, Barbara Cairns, President; Miss Whelpley, Miss McIntyre, Mr. Tucker, John Hatch. Standing: Ruth Butler, Beverly Graffam, Susan Quick, Spike Paranya, Charles Urbon, Nancy Murphy, and Pat Cutter.

Operetta coaching is given by Mrs. Sandburger as she urges Peggy Brock and Bruce Beauchesne to open their mouths even wider for better tone.



Major subject English presents a challenge, with fun, too, in Mr. Cheever's Block D senior class.



World History helps sophomores David Parsons, Barbara Ferrari, and Florence Brucchi to understand past worlds.

THE AXIS OF

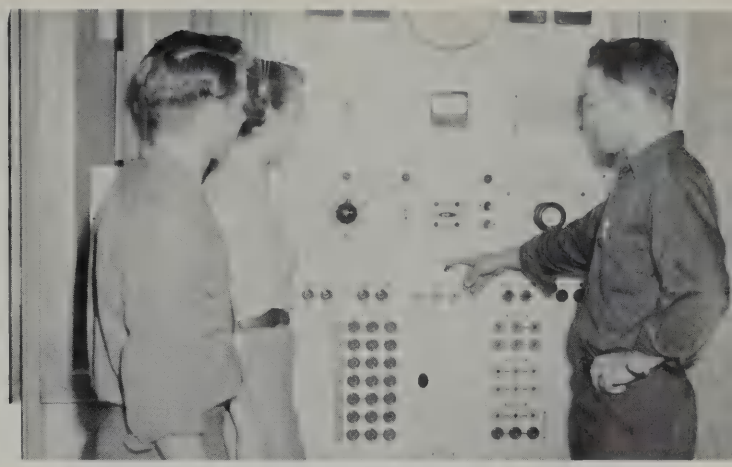
Shorthand class for seniors with Miss Spidle is a serious business.

Civics, a major class, holds the interest of Charles Litchfield, Nancy Govan, and Marianna Amico.

Quizzes in Cheever style are written under the map, preventing students like Nancy Murphy from peeking.

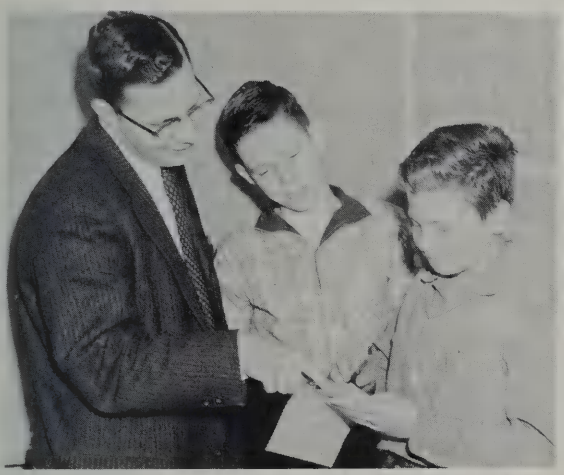
Helpful library lessons with Mrs. Creamer is one of the lesser toils for Robert Mattson, Dick Petrino, Bill Spiers Linda Travers, and Franny Hogan.

Junior algebra, although difficult to comprehend, is mastered by Judy Steinhauser, Phyllis MacAuley, and Mark Peterson.



The controls of the electronic panel are explained in senior physics by Bruce Beauchesne, while Kenny Fletcher and Carolyn Sisson listen.

OUR WORLD



Mr. Buck interprets the complicated problem of freshman math for Jimmy Doherty and Paul Caputo.

Chemistry experiment carried out by Bill Paxton and Jimmy Sanseverino suggests perhaps an explosion ahead.

Dissecting frogs causes confusion for Andrea Viano, Linda Whittier, Tony Ross and Dave MacAuley, but Miss Callahan distinguishes the kidney from the liver for them.

Typing class develops competent and speedy secretaries such as Olga Cipriano, Shirley Matigan, Ann Mahoney, Shirley Knox, and Virginia Glenn.

The art of cooking is easily learned in our modern homemaking room by future housemakers Marilyn D'Abbraccio, Carol Rhones, Linda Travers, and Joan Contini.

The Ditto machine goes fast and accurately when guided by the able hands of Nancy Garrity, Peggy Woodward, and Judy Lollis.

In clothing classes Mrs. Cushman teaches sewing skills to Sue Ladd, Carla Scribner, Nancy Caldaroni, and Sandy Antonelli.

Art class provides opportunity for Karen Sampson, Pat Vail, and Ed Phalen to express their feelings in designs.

ELECTIVES

Future draftsmen John Faucette, Pat Barbieri, John Overton, Allen Prescott, Ted Slater, Charles Spidle, and Murray Ingraham design machine parts.

Wood designing is mastered by Don Servente at the lathe.

Fine craftsmanship is accomplished by Larry Doll, Mal Silva, Bob Collina, Charlie Bergin, and Charlie Skinner in the wood shop.

Welding in the metal shop gives Alfred Batstone training for his future in the trucking business.

Careful sanding occupies the attention of Tom Bonnell, Bob MacInnis, and Jim Moloy as they put the finishing touches on a coffee table.

The Christmas spirit invades our world when Mrs. Sandberger directs the choir in our favorite songs.

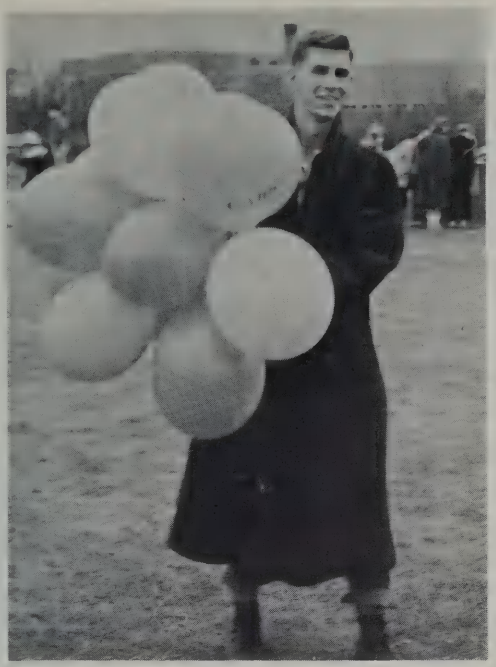
HOLIDAYS

Christmas

The annual Christmas assembly starts off our vacation in a joyful, but reverent, holiday spirit.

Trimming the tree, Ruth Butler, Susan Manning, Bruce Beauchesne, and Barbara Cairns help to increase true Christmas feeling in the school.

Traditional carols resound through the corridors as the seniors spread the musical cheer of the season.

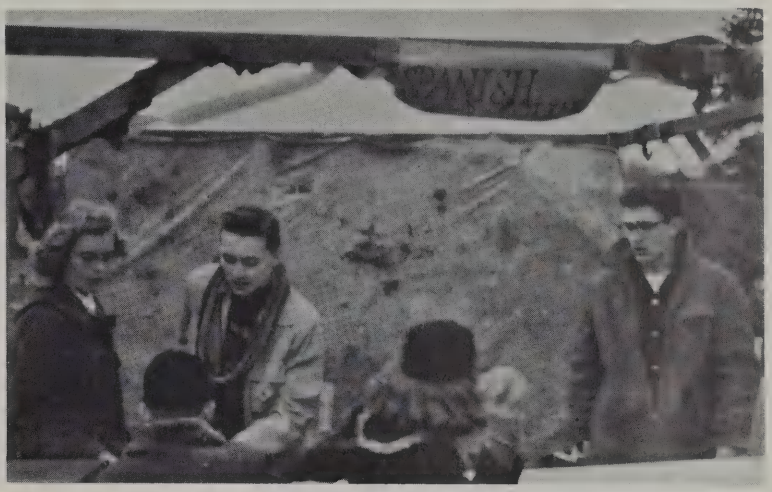


Balloons are hawked by John Stewart at "Carnival 56," sponsored by the Senior Class on November 17. This entire event added $669.93 to the Senior Class treasury.

AND CELEBRATIONS

Carnival '56

Announcing the lucky winner of the Ginny doll, Ken Barclay is assisted by Pay Crosby and Ruth Butler. Other gate prizes were a football, a 20 lb. turkey, and a 45 R. P. M. victrola.



"Knock the bottle over!" urges Dick Gazan as he watches a young softball player wind up for the throw. Working with him in the Spanish Club booth are Peggy Hoyt and George Meyers.

Pitching pennies at the Junior Class booth, Bob Marsan, Mark Jensen, and John Schumacher are determined to win.

Crowded area displays the interest shown by students and townspeople. Over 1200 admission tickets were sold despite the cold damp weather.

The big worriers, Coaches Helin and Knight, keep a watchful eye on the progress of the game.

Whooping it up, Barbara Maurer and the cheerleaders get into the spirit of things.

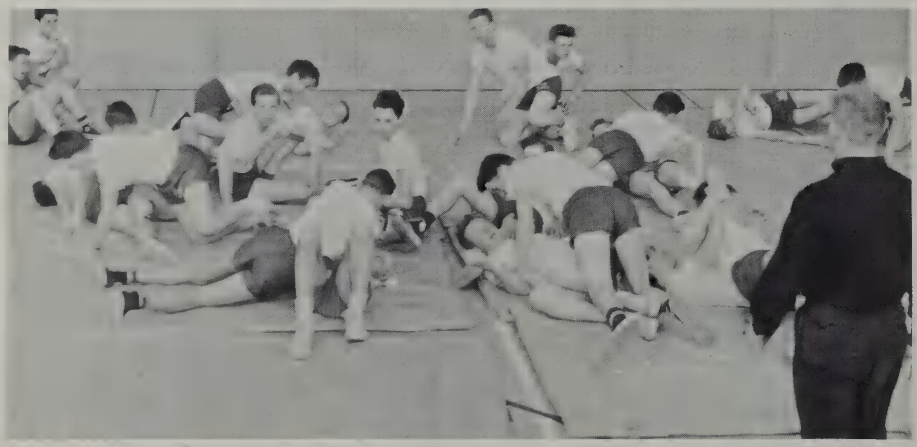
EVERYDAY SCENES

Lunchtime basketball lets the boys release their extra energy.

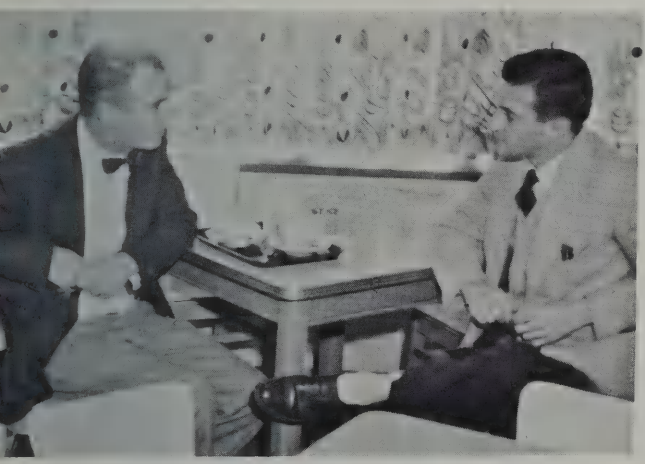
Eating and talking goes synonymously for Murray Ingraham, Mike Fosburg, Tony Spinellli, Pete Lappin, and Don MacElroy.

Climbing ropes in gym class, the freshman girls learn new skills.

Wrestling in boys' gym class is refereed by Mr. Lord.



Study hall in 156 finds everyone industriously working.



Teachers' lunchroom at noon finds Mr. Franz, Mr. Sherwood, Mr. MacCormick, and Mr. Trembley enjoying a moment of relaxation.

Student leadership is an important part of class procedure as demonstrated by Mark Wilkins in French class.

Graduation day seems far off to Frank Pespisa, Phyllis Carpenito, and Tony Spinelli when report cards come out for the second term.

Drinking fountain congregation between class slows up Carol Frost, Lish Collins, Lee Kelly, Nancy Sullivan, and Elaine Travers.

Sweatshirt sales by Brenda Conti and Keith Knubbe of the National Honor Society are made to Diana Birch and Janice DeFelice.

AIDES TO OUR WORLD

Friendly custodians, Walter McDonald, Alfred Welton, Steve Lichtenberg, and George Doughty, keep our world bright and clean.

Keeping us healthy, Mrs. Bardwell, Mrs. Setterlund, Mrs. Ceriello, Mrs. Weaver, Mrs. Maguire, Mrs. Clyde, and Mrs. Webber, cook and serve our delicious main dishes which cost only a quarter.

Mrs. Nelson, one of our competent office secretaries, takes a telephone message for a student.

Miss Lovering of the office staff is kept busy by typing information forms for Seniors.

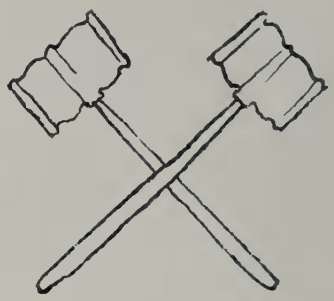
"Oh, is that ever a good one?" exclaims Norma Julin to Ruth Butler and Robert Prescott as they examine the latest pictures.

With the able assistance of Miss Kinley and Mr. Moyle the 1957 Yearbook Staff put out a bigger and better book this year, but did it with a much smaller staff than last year. Members of the staff led by Ruth Butler and Norma Julin worked at everything, layouts, copy, and picture captions, in contrast to the sectional staff work done in previous years. The fine art work of Charlotte Harris made the book additionally attractive. Candid photo work produced by Bob Prescott and Dave Yeakel also heightened student interest in the field of activities and sports. This was truly a book showing the relationship of the school to our town and preserving the present picture of school life for the future in the lives of the underclassmen as well as the seniors. The photos vividly portrayed the whole student body and its activities showing the necessary ingredients needed for an active and worthwhile school life. The record sales of the yearbook this year were due to the untiring efforts of Business Managers Bob Rosendorn and Bob Finnerty and the clever advertisements made by Marsha Patch and Beth Dacey over the Public Address System.

Busy! Busy! Busy! Deadline terror instigates Susan Quick, Beverly Graffam, Sarah Gale, Susan Manning, Cynthia Rich, and Janet Cole to slave harder and faster.

Spike Paranya President, smiles on as Sue Manning, Secretary, tries to figure out whether voting is on the amendment or the amendment to the amendment of the motion.



VOICE OF THE STUDENTS

This year's Student Council certainly proved themselves worthy to be called the governing body of the school. This active group of twenty-five students served the school by permitting other organizations to hold money raising functions such as carnivals, tag days, dances, and food sales, and by selling season tickets to home sports events, by placing a bookcase in the cafeteria, and by providing background music during lunchtime. The council also carried out its standard duty of organizing the Football, Assembly, Lunchroom, Traffic, Pep Rally, and Elections Committees.

One of the outstanding things this year's council did was to hold a special assembly to acquaint us with the many interesting foreign students in our school, including Zeynep Alagür, the Student Council sponsored student. It ended with the dedication of a tree and plaque by the U.N. Celebrations Committee.

Next year's council will again be able to sponsor a foreign student and prove to be a beneficial organization if they have the fine advisor, members, and co-operation from the entire school as it did this year.

LEADERSHIP, SCHOLARSHIP, SERVICE, CHARACTER

The 1956-1957 Lexington Chapter of the National Honor Society consisted of eight members chosen last February for their outstanding qualities of leadership, scholarship, service, and character determined by activity and teacher ratings. About twenty-five more members were chosen this February. The bulk of the work, however, was done by the original eight members, since the others were only members for a few months.

The main projects of this year's chapter were revising the L. H. S. handbook, selling Lexington sweatshirts, giving a scholarship to a worthy senior who was not a member of the society, and providing Guest Greeters for the two main entrances of the school. This group is made up mainly of seniors who act as host or hostess during their study periods. In this way no visitor ever feels lost in our expanding school.

Special thanks for the success of this year's group should go to Mr. Joseph Gibson, who took over the duty of advisor and worked energetically with the students.

HONOR SOCIETY. Third row: R. Rosendorn, G. Bieren, W. Tappley, B. Thompson, J. Oberteuffer, A. Schumacher, M. Fosberg, R. Finnerty, M. Ingraham, R. Buckingham, O. Cipriano. Second row: M. P. A. COMMITTEE. S. Quick, M. Taylor, A. Murphy, C. Harris, I. Howard, E. Dacey. Absent: M. Brock, J. Donnelly.

THREE R's AND

Maybe you have noticed the kids standing in the middle of the corridors and leaning against the doors, or maybe you haven't; but if they were not there you would be sure to notice it. The co-chairmen of the Traffic Squad, Nancy Murphy and David Yeakel, and the advisor, Mr. Adzigian, have taken the problems of congestion in hand and to the best of their ability have solved them. With this accomplished, they turned their thoughts to the new wing and the question of marshalls in that section. Thanks to these loyal students, many accidents have been avoided during "rush hour."

Finally! The truth is out! It is the P. A. Committee who is responsible for the interruption at the beginning of third period every day. This committee, while aiding the school, also gets important lessons in self-confidence. In addition, the members have received training in using the public address system and the tape recorder. With the help of Mrs. Reynolds, our speech therapist, they have been able to adjust their own speech problems and have helped to make our school notices clearer.

The purpose of the Audio-Visual Club is to relieve the burden from the teachers of operating the audio-visual equipment. Mr. Louder and the officers, Bruce Burnham, Bob White, Dale Fisher, and Lindsey Williams, have made this group a very necessary and helpful fixture in the school.

AUDIO-VISUAL CLUB. Second row: A. Murphy, J. Flanagan, J. Mimno, Mr. Louder, Advisor, R. Hayes, J. Sheehan, G. Pacheco. First row: P. Gombosi, S. Bolan, L. Williams, B. Burnham, R. White, D. Fisher, B. Thompson. Absent: J. Doherty, R. Fogg, A. Kates, R. McClean, C. McDonald, H. Ryder, W. Westberg.

Beauchesne, Mr. Coffin, Advisor, Mr. Ingraham, Advisor, J. Flanagan, J. Day, Chairman, J. Crowley. First row: J. Rutherford, C. Fletcher, R. Parece, J. McNamara, C. Scribner, P. Poulleys, A. Viano, P. Stevens. Absent: K. Fletcher, P. Catalano, B. Burnham, J. Cosgrove, R. Lee, J. Perry.

AN S FOR SERVICE

The Lunchroom Committee has been taken in tow this year by two advisors, Mr. Coffin and Mr. Ingraham, and an excellent chairman, Jim Day. The purpose of this committee is to keep the lunchroom clean and neat and the lunch shifts runing smoothly. This has been done by having a milk wagon and ice cream freezer separate from the main lunch line, and by imposing regulations regarding cutting in line, which doors to use, and where to dispose of papers and trays. Without this committee's help, the lunch period would have been something to dread rather than to look forward to.

The Library Staff this year is one of the largest this school has seen for a long time. These students, who have charge of the Memorial Library, volunteer from one to five of their free periods a week to help Mrs. Creamer keep one of our favorite spots in school running smoothly. Some of their duties are checking books in and out and keeping an accurate record of attendance. While working there, they benefit by learning about books and learning how a library runs.

LIBRARY STAFF. Third row: N. Randle, J. Adams, C. Morris, P. Goddard, S. Gale, R. Rosendorn, G. Bieren, A. Prescott, J. Hanson, J. West, R. Packard, P. Thompson. Second row: M. Spinelle, J. This year Lexington High School welcomed a new club. "Young Moderns" was chosen as the title of this organization, whose primary function was to help teenage girls develop socially, emotionally, and intellectually. This club has created so much interest among the girls that two clubs, the Junior-Senior and Freshman-Sophomore, had to be formed to allow for its two hundred members. The club started late in the year but rapidly caught up with the other school organizations by producing a full and well-organized program schedule. This has consisted of speakers on etiquette, dating tips, and good grooming, with a question and answer session following each. Some of the members have visited similar organizations existing in neighboring schools to exchange ideas. "Young Moderns" also has the distinction of being the only club which has impelled its members, (by popular vote) to dress-up for every meeting.

COACH, TEAM, PEP, STEAM!

The majorettes showed more action this year than in any previous year. They appeared regularly at the pep rallies; each time with a new and intricate routine. They accompanied the cheerleaders to represent Lexington at the Concord rally. The majorettes never failed to proceed the band on to the field on Saturday afternoons, Shiela Cass strutting in the lead. For the enjoyment of all, they put on a skit at the Punchard game, and at the Thanksgiving Day game they led the band in a pinwheel and a cross.

No need to ask any longer who supplies the hungry crowd at the football games with cokes, candy bars, hot dogs, potato chips, and programs. It's the Football Programs Committee with their chairman Judy McNamara. To the delight of all, Concord came to Lexington at last; the committee did not miss a chance to do its job, for their supplies soon disappeared. After every home game they left the field without a scrap of paper visible. The $475 raised by this committee will enable the Student Council to sponsor another foreign student.

L. H. S. IS ON THE BEAM!

Behind the spirit of Lexington High are the school's vivacious cheerleaders. This year, with Barbara Maurer as captain, they enthusiastically led crowded bleachers in cheers of encouragement and victory for both the football and basketball teams. Their many hours of practice resulted in a third place award plus a trophy, which they took by their new "Lexington" cheer, in the Dedham competition. The pep rallies held throughout the fall took a great deal of thought on the part of the cheerleaders. They provided good entertainment for the whole school, especially at the Thanksgiving Night Rally with their take-offs on each player, which were only too true. These girls also decorated the gym for each rally.

The freshman cheerleaders certainly gave their football team support as they led them on through an undefeated season. Then, they started basketball games off in their new handmade uniforms. They joined with the senior cheerleaders in several pep rallies, rousing a roar from the freshman section.

Both these groups, the senior and freshman cheerleaders, have kept on the job and produced spirit, in the best Lexington tradition.

This year the orchestra completed a busy but enjoyable season. After many rehearsals its members helped creditably by playing for intermissions at the Senior Play. Two of its most gifted musicians, Cynthia Carpenter and Roberta Buckingham, received the honor of being chosen to represent Lexington High School at the All State Music Festival in March at Northampton. The orchestra played skillfully at the Northeastern Massachusetts Music Festival, held this year at Concord. In May the musicians participated in the traditional Spring Concert with pleasing results. With its fine performance at Senior graduation held in our new auditorium, the orchestra successfully finished another praiseworthy year.

The versatility of the band was shown this year in its many performances under the able leadership of Mr. Gillespie. Its members, in well-disciplined marching order, played enthusiastically at all the football games. In March the musicians participated in a combined concert with Woburn at that town. The band again represented the school in Lexington's traditional April 19'th Parade. On May 4 the school was represented by members of the band in the Northeastern Massachusetts Music Festival. And wearing their blue and gold uniforms, the band made a bright spot in the Spring Concert on May 10. Lexington High has long appreciated its colorful and splendid band, and this year its part in our school life was again a big and important one.

WITH A SONG

Although the Boys' Choir was the smallest of the three singing groups, it provided the basis of many enjoyable musical programs, especially the traditional Veterans' Day and Christmas assemblies. Besides their deep bass and mellow tenor voices, the boys' group offered talented soloists. Working as a unit, all the boys tried to improve their quality of tone and many of them succeeded in securing a part in the operetta, "The Gondoliers."

At each meeting of the Junior Girls' Glee Club, made up of freshmen and sophomores, the group sang their theme song, "I Believe," to get into the mood for singing. Under Mrs. Sandburger's direction, the girls tried to perfect their harmony in songs chosen for the Northeastern Music Festival, held in Concord, and also for the Spring Concert. As the girls showed such enthusiasm this year, they will surely contribute a great deal to the senior club next year.

FRESHMAN-SOPHOMORE GIRLS' GLEE CLUB. First row: H. Junge, J. Wertzill, J. Battersby, M. Walsh, A. Poehler, M. Worth, D. Emerson, J. Cizek, S. Steele, J. Carota, S. Clark. Second row: V. IN OUR HEARTS

Since such a large number of junior and senior girls turned out for the Senior Girls' Glee Club, Mrs. Sandberger felt that she would have to cut down the size to make the club easier to work with. After giving the original number a trial period to see how it worked out, she decided to retain the entire group. Things began to get under way with the election of officers and a theme song, "Without a Song." The librarians, Sylvia Sands and Beth Dacey, did a commendable job taking care of the large repertory available to the girls. The aim of the club was to do its best in singing and harmonizing in preparation for the Northeastern Music Festival and the Spring Concert. The girls even sacrificed time after school to attend rehearsals. They worked on the dreamy, "Clouds," "Oh, Dear, What Can the Matter Be?," (a peppy novelty tune), and the beautiful "Spirit Flower." These songs were effectively done at the concert and will long be fondly remembered.

JUNIOR GIRLS' GLEE CLUB. Third row: M. Wood, P. Cormier, B. Kensley, B. Tichenor, C. Sweeney, J. Durkin, L. Chiachia, N. Garrity, M. Sainato, A. Wadsworth, C. Rich, N. Cloud, B. Marco (Robert Clements) and Guiseppe (David Coomber), two happy-go-lucky gondoliers, are returning from their marriages to Gianetta (Marilyn Taylor) and Tessa (Barbara Kensley) when the Duke of Plaza-Toro (Bruce Beauchesne) and his suite appear. He, his wife (Margaret Brock), his daughter Casilda (Sylvia Sands), and Luiz (Peter Clark), secretly in love with Casilda, say they are looking for the heir to the throne of Baratoria, who was kidnaped as a baby soon after his marriage by proxy to Casilda. Sure that either Marco or Guiseppe is the heir, the Duke persuades them to rule jointly until the right suitor is found for Casilda. This entangled situation is unraveled as the operetta concluded in true Gilbert and Sullivan style. Once again Mrs. Sandberger and her capable and harmonious operetta cast gave us a successful and entertaining performance. This year "The Gondoliers" chalked up another achievement in our world of music.

GIRLS' CHORUS. Third row: L. Carota, H. MacDonald, A. Poehler, G. Miller, B. Lyons, M. Schecter, M. Harrington, C. Harris, R. Mogan. Second row: B. Maurer, R. Buckingham, J. Cizek, L. CAST. Third row: G. Bieren, H. Knight, I. Chiat, D. Yeakel, R. Crowley, D. Coomber. Second row: J. Flanagan, I. Howard, B. Thompson, K. Knubbe, B. Moore, D. Lynch. First row: M. Taylor, M. Patch, R. Clements, R. Woody, P. Crosby, N. Murphy, B. Conti.

"There was a young lady from Wheeling" croons tipsy Gay Wellington (Roberta Clements) to George Bieren, Marsha Patch, Dick Crowley, Marilyn Taylor, Harry Knight, Dave Yeakel, and Barry Thompson.

WHO'S NORMAL ANYWAY?

This year's senior play, the widely renowned, "You Can't Take It With You," was a tremendous success. The plot centers around the idiosyncrasies of the Vanderhof family and their lifetime visitors. This eccentric family consists of Penny Sycamore, (Marilyn Taylor) who decided to become a playwright because a typewriter was accidentally left at her door; Mister Vanderhof (Dick Crowley), the grandfather who collects snakes and attends every commencement at Columbia University; Paul Sycamore (George Bieren), and DePinna (Keith Knubbe), who makes fireworks in the cellar; Essie (Brenda Conti), who practices ballet and makes candy; and Alice Sycamore (Nancy Murphy) the apparently only normal one. The plot thickens when Alice meets Tony Kirby (Dave Coomber) and becomes ashamed of her family.

Credit goes to the cast, but especially to those working behind the scenes and to every senior who sold tickets.

Sincere thanks is due to Miss Chorebanian who worked extremely hard in planning and rehearsing such a successful production.

COMMITTEES. Third row: H. Scott, S. Bell, D. Lynch, A. Coyte, E. Dever, D. Cole, R. Maxcy, J. Callahan, B. Beauchesne, B. Burnham, B. Cairns, R. Butler, Second row: S. Gale, J. Crowley, M. ON STAGE

The Assembly Committee under the direction of Mr. McCormick and Chairman Nancy Murphy made worthwhile contributions to the school in planning and participating in all assemblies, including pep rallies, and directing the morning exercises on Mondays over the Public Address System. The new auditorium, finished this year, was advantageous as it offered better facilities with which to work.

The Dramatic Club is not only for future actors and actresses, but also for those interested in directing, make-up, and all other phases of the theatre. Under President Brenda Conti and Advisor Miss Chorebanian the knowledge gained at the meetings was put to use in plays and skits. The club also sponsored a trip to M.I.T. to see "Electra", and to Boston to see the Old Vic Company do "Romeo and Juliet."

The activities of the Junior Red Cross Council have stressed service to our community and to foreign countries. Early this year the Chairman of the Boston Chapter of Red Cross Councils spoke to the members. At Christmas time the members packed gift boxes for Hungarian refugee children. Later they made stuffed dolls for a nearby hospital. In the spring, the members, helped by other pupils, made a scrapbook showing the different aspects of school and town life to send to a school abroad. These different projects of the Junior Red Cross Council have helped bring happiness to many people in our community and abroad.

¿COMPRENDE USTED ESPAÑOL?

In order to stimulate interest in the Spanish language and those who speak it, Los Amigos, under the guidance of Mrs. Leake, has had an interesting and varied program this year. To acquaint the members with all phases of Spanish, the club, under the leadership of Roberta Clements, had a spelling bee, Spanish skits, and movies. With money obtained from their ball-throwing booth at the 1956 Carnival, the Spanish Club purchased slides and a record of Spanish songs and tongue twisters. The annual Christmas Banquet with colorful decorations, delighful entertainment, and Spanish dishes was in the old tradition. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. McCormick and Mr. and Mrs. Eaton. With a tremendous swing of a baseball bat, Mr. McCormick broke the gay sombrero-shaped pinata with a crash. The goodies that filled it were enjoyed by all the members of the club.

LOS AMIGOS. Third row: M. Whitney, E. Blume, J. Nelson, R. Gazan, G. Meyers, D. Yeakel, J. Schumacher, D. MacElroy, M. Maloon, C. Ward, P. Stevens. Second row: J. Beaulieu, P. Fleming, D. OU COMPRENEZ-VOUS FRANCAIS?

Ths Sophomore and Senior French Clubs again this year are two separate clubs having the same purpose of furthering its members knowledge of France and of encouraging more use of conversational French. They accomplished this by speaking as much French as possible during their meetings. The Sophomore Club under the guidance of Mr. Eaton and President Nanci Baird enjoyed a lively Christmas Party. The Senior Club had a very active and worthwhile year led by Miss Ratte and President Hallie MacDonald. At the Senior Carnival their make-up booth was unique. The people chose the characters they were to be made up as. The Club sent $50 to Care for Hungarian Relief. Many students attended the traditional Cabaret held in the spring at which a presentation of the "can-can" provided colorful entertainment.

JUNIOR-SENIOR FRENCH CLUB. Third row: M. Ingraham, Vice-president, J. Oberteuffer, W. Tapply, W. Paxton, D. Coomber, R. Crowley, K. Barclay, R. Moore, R. Finnerty, P. Lappin, B. TWO APPEALING WORLDS

The Art Club, where the future Rembrants and Van Goghs hang out, was set up to provide more extensive training in the various fields of art. These students have provided us with Christmas decorations for both the lunchroom and our Christmas tree. They have also set up interesting exhibits in their showcase in the science wing and have often been called upon by different organizations to help with the publicity of certain projects.

This year the Science Club keynote has been activity. In attempting to further knowledge and promote interest in science, the club has had interesting speakers and movies. The club has had some enlightening field trips. One of particular interest was to the Cambridge television station WNAC-TV. Every member of Science Club participated in presenting the annual Science Fair which consisted of exhibits in physics, chemistry, biology, and mathematics from every student taking a science course. These exhibits were on a competitive level for top honors and prizes.

Lexington High's 1956 football team, led by Co-captains Dever and Hogan, climaxed a fine season on Thanksgiving by beating Concord for the first time since 1945. Playing at home for the first time since 1953, the team moulded a brilliant effort into a 12-6 victory. The Concord score, sandwiched in between an eight yard sweep by Dever in the first period and a thirty-eight yard interception run by Schumacher completed the scoring. A hard-charging line of Stewart, Cole, Carlson, Coyte, Spidle, Dwyer, and Schumacher featured the Lexington defense that held Concord to four first downs. The backfield of Dever, Hogan, Schumacher, and Connor was also tremendous. Early in the season Lexington upset Melrose. Later in facing a strong Class B Winchester eleven, the team earned a moral victory. In fighting to overcome a two-touchdown deficit Lexington scored once but was thwarted thrice inside the enemy fifteen yard line. Against Wakefield's league champions, Lexington, through adequate line play and the tremendous punting of Cole, held its own until the half. However, in the second half Wakefield pulled away, aided by its superior bench strength. Later, Lexington jolted once-beaten Needham in a fabulous upset. A 61-yard pass from Cole to Dever with eight seconds remaining in the half stood up the margin of victory, although Hogan notched an insurance touchdown in the final minute. Following the Concord defeat, the highlight of the season, Lexington was pleased to get back once more the traditional 1775 musket—the symbol of a champion.

This fall the Freshman Football team produced Lexington High's first undefeated team in many years. Much credit is due this fine squad for such an outstanding feat, which undoubtably reflects the coaching of mentors, DiGiammarino and Gibson. During the season the team swept through seven games with six wins and a tie, while it out scored the opposition 135 to 68. A favorable note is that Concord was shut out. The Wakefield game showed vividly the drive and clutch performance of this club. At half-time Lexington had spotted the powerful Wakefield eleven two touchdowns but came back strong in the second half to win by one point. In the second half, backs, Kinsman and Spiers played brilliantly, while the entire line was unstoppable.

In future years varsity coaches should expect much from these boys. Of the backs in particular, Connor, Kinsman, Peterson, Robbat, and Spiers, will bear watching. The scrappy line was anchored by Birch, Hallman, O'Shaughnessy, Robinson, and Taylor.

FIGHT, SCORE, AND WIN

Veterans Paula Stevens, Emily Rolando, and Phyllis Carpenito formed the nucleus of a field hockey team this year of which Coach Leavitt and the entire school can be proud. Beginning slowly, the team under Miss Leavitt's watchful eye, turned the experience of two close defeats into a string of fast, exciting, and satisfying games. The most challenging game of the season with Winchester permitted them only two points for a narrow victory. The most spectacular game came with Wellesley when Lexington, with a hard-hitting forward line and a capable defense, shut out the opposition in a startling 7-0 victory. Paula Stevens and Emily Rolando were high scorers. Defense positions in the hands of green and untried players soon displayed much progress and an unquenchable spirit in the last few games.

Credit should be given to the J. V. team for fine support. They played well, gained experience, and showed good promise for next year.

This year's Cross Country team, although not the powerful team it has been in recent years, finished the season with a very respectable dual meet record, winning three and losing two. The team also placed third in their division and eighth in the State Championships. The team's first meet against Needham ended in a close 27 to 28 win for Needham, but The Minutemen bounced back to hand Everett Vocational a 19 to 44 shellacking. Then came powerful Woburn and a 22 to 36 win for the visitors and Lexington's last dual meet loss. In the next two meets first Wellesley succumbed by a 19 to 39 score, followed by a 21 to 37 win over Stoneham. In State Class C competition the boys placed eighth out of a field of seventeen schools.

Pacing the team individually this year were Co-captain Spike Paranya and Dick Crowley. Spike continually ran away from every opponent he faced and went on to break five cross country records, climaxing the season by setting a new all class record at the State Championships. Dick Crowley also showed he was a top flight runner, placing fourth in the division and ninth in the State Championships. Backing up these two on Coach Franz's team were Co-captain Gus Schumacher, Tony Spinelli, Charlie Glenn, Kim Greeley, John Oberteuffer, Bob Prescott, and Bob Stoico.

Spike Paranya sets another record at the White Stadium in the state meet.

GET THAT BALL

The varsity basketball team, composed of seniors Jack Brinklow, Gus Shumacher, Tony Spinelli, Dave MacAuley, Captain John Plummer, plus outstanding juniors Pete Lappin, Bill Tappley, and Murray Ingraham, was the best shooting team Lexington has had in quite awhile. With only three returning lettermen the boys had to practice many long and hard hours to form themselves into the strong, steady unit that they became. This team definitely had determination and a fighting spirit which stayed with it throughout the season. Two of the most exciting games of the season were against Wakefield and Concord, which resulted in two overtime victories for L.H.S. Another exceptional game was against Belmont when we came closer to beating "The Winnermen" than any other team in the league. It was really heartbreaking when we lost by two baskets in the last minutes of the game. Coach Abell really deserves credit for this team which held up the reputation of L.H.S. so well. Just by looking at their record, everyone can see that this team had magnificent skill, unity, and playing ability.

GET THAT BASKET

Throughout the season a desire to play and win their games was indelibly marked on the Junior Varsity squad which was composed of juniors, sophomores, and a few talented freshmen. From a group of untrained individuals, the Junior Varsity boys developed into a well-knit group acting as a single unit. With the valuable experience gained in their games and practice sessions with the varsity squad, they will undoubtedly help to form a winning team for L.H.S. next year.

The indomitable fighting spirit of the Freshmen Team was the major factor for the close scores in all their games. The Team's record does not adequately reveal the tremendous ability of these boys as they were divided into two groups which played alternately in the Freshman and Junior-Varsity schedules, so that each group would get as much competitive experience as possible. Because of this "share the Freshmen-talent program," our future basketball teams are bound to be stronger than ever and head straight for all the Tech Tourneys.

Led by forwards Mary Siekmen, Judy Lollis, Marilyn Wood, Gail Kneen, Judi Porter, Doreen Dillman, and Louise MacDonald, the varsity squad showed a "let's-go" spirit all season. These girls were constantly aggressive in anticipating plays, passing, dribbling, shooting, and scoring. Backing up the scoring side of the team was the effective guarding of Emily Rolando, Phyllis Carpenito, Sheila Cass, Cynthia Rich, and last year's only veteran to return, Paula Stevens. Showing the fans how to intercept the ball and to snare rebounds, these girls sparked the team in its efforts to hold off the heavy offenses of teams made up of skilled veterans. Two games were outstanding in this year's tally. The first game of the season showed Lexington completely overpowering a strong Reading team 36 to 27. The most exciting game was with Lexington's traditional rival Concord. In this game the Leavitt basketeers outscored their opponents fourteen to eleven baskets from the floor, even though misfortune overtook them when the Concord crew won on foul shots. For the Leavitt Lassies this was a team-building year and gained for them worthwhile experience that will prove valuable when most of the squad returns next year.

Getting underway with a romping 40 to 8 defeat over Reading, the Junior-Varsity squad fought doggedly throughout the season. Although this was not one of the most victorious seasons, it was a hard working, experience-gaining period which set up the makings of a good varsity squad for next year. Using techniques gained from hours of vigorous practice and effective play work, this scrappy group of girls, especially in the hard fought overtime thriller with Arlington, showed that Lexington team spirit was always the keynote of the season.

This year's varsity hockey team under the first-year direction of Coach Knight was led by co-captains Dave Cole and John Stewart. Backboned by the return of five senior lettermen, Dick Lee, John Connor, Bruce Boleyn, Dave Cole, and John Stewart and ably supported by Jim Timothy with the assistance of last year's sophomores, the team was molded into a hard-fighting club. The team compiled another fine season in the Eastern Mass. League. With the sparkling performance of Bruce Boleyn between the pipes, the team exhibited great scrappiness in defeating Malden twice, Dedham once, and tieing Natick. The latter contest was climaxed by a furious finish in which Lexington while short-handed came from behind in the third period to erase a two-goal deficit and to go ahead 3-2, only to have Natick produce the equalizer seconds later. In the win over Dedham, Lexington was paced by Dick Lee, who turned in the hat trick. The second Malden game was a thriller as Dick Gazan's backhander stood up as the lone tally.

Sharkie Connor makes spectacular single-handed goal against strong Dedham.

The freshman hockey squad, under the supervision of its new coach Ed Burri, made a respectable showing in the Suburban League. The development of the club centered around the talents of a four-man nucleus of returning veterans: Tom Moon, Bert Gage, Dick Henry, and Charlie Bentley. Individually, Tom Moon, who showed great promise in the nets, seemed to have inherited the ability of his Dad, a former great, once a coach at Lexington High. The forwards were paced through the efforts of Jim Kyle, Dick Henry, and Bert Gage, while Charlie Bentley strengthened the defense.

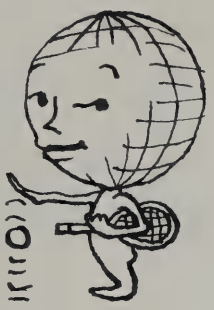
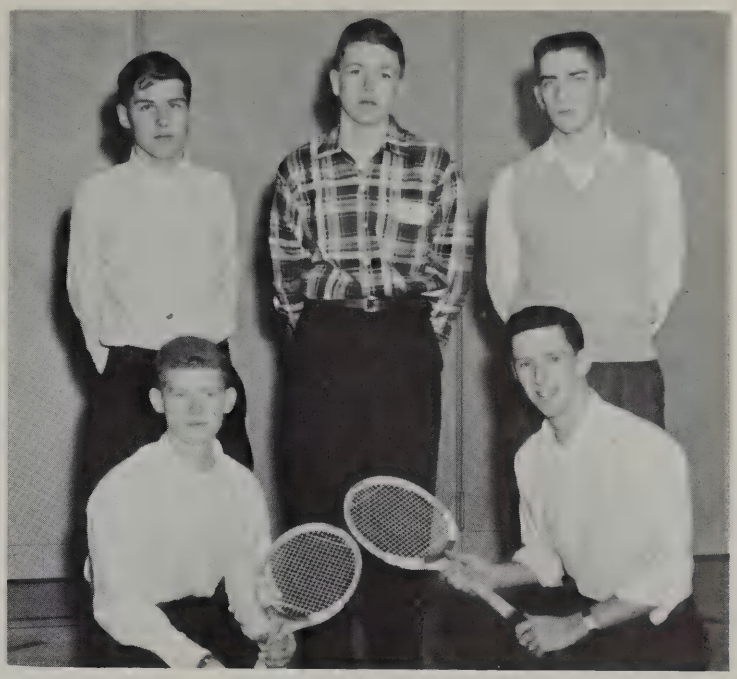
HIT IT

Boosted by the experienced veterans Pat Crosby, Nancy Cloud, Harriet Anthony, Sylvia Sands, and Bunny Kensley, the tennis team had a successful season. The inexperienced members worked as competently as the varsity throughout the season to improve their performance. The girls, mostly sophomores and juniors, showed initiative and enthusiasm in the games, and great promise for the future. Working unselfishly together and meeting their opponents with determination, the team produced able players and set up stiff competition for their opponents.

An energetic, hard-working group of girls made up a scrappy softball team this year. Under the capable guidance of Coach Leavitt they had an exciting and profitable season. Practicing regularly, the team worked well together and was greatly helped by veterans Judy Lollis, Phillis Carpenito, Judi Porter, and Mary Siekman. With unending effort, good sportsmanship, and clean competitive spirit, the girls played their hardest and most exciting games against Arlington and Winchester with success.

SOFTBALL. Back row: N. McCrensky, K. Osgood, P. Siekman, Coach Leavitt, D. Dillman, S. Riordan, G. Kneen, L. MacDonald. Front row: C. Nutt, M. Siekman, G. Rhodes, P. Carpenito, J. Lollis, J. Porter, D. Curtin.





TENNIS. Standing: J. Donnelly, D. McLellan, J. Lightbody. Kneeling; B. Burnham, I. Howard. Absent: B. Towle.

REAL HARD

"Beautiful smash! Wow! You really whipped that ball over the net!" That was Bruce Towle our ace comeback to the tennis team winding up the season's matches. Bruce Burnham and Jack Lightbody, both veteran players, can look back on a good season. With a strong squad and good coach, the team did everything to make this a most successful year. Although we didn't have a perfect season, the boys learned sportsmanship and teamwork, but most of all, they had a great deal of fun.

A strong baseball team was sparked to another successful Middlesex League season by a nucleus of seven lettermen. A well-balanced team was bolstered by the hurling of Pete Lappin, Dave MacAuley, and Jack Donovan. In the field, Jack Brincklow, Murray Ingraham, and Bill Tappley performed splendidly while veterans Dave Cole and Larry White anchored the outfield. Last year's J.V. team, under the tutelage of Coach Adzigian provided strong reserves. Winchester, Belmont, and Stoneham provided potent opposition for the league supremacy.

MORE SPRING FAVORITES

This year's Lexington High School Golf Team had a very successful season with Bruce Boleyn, Walter Hodgdon, Doug Moakly, and Paul Bentley returning to the squad. Our team this year was supervised by Mr. Coffin, coach, assisted by Mr. Sherwood. The over-all balance of the Greater Boston Northern Scholastical Zone League this year stimulated all the participants to greater efforts and provided a thrilling season for all.

This year's track team, loaded with many returning veterans, enjoyed another good season, and produced many outstanding competitors in league competition. Piling up the points for Coach Helin this year were Spike Paranya, state 880 record holder, Dave Coomber, Gus Schumacher, and Bob Prescott in the middle distances, Dick Crowley in the mile, Russ Carlson in the javelin, and John Schumacher in the sprints and high jump.

TRACK TEAM. Third row: J. Slade, J. Oberteuffer, M. Fosburg, M. Peterson, W. Paxton, J. Hatch, P. Bramley, R. Stoico. Second row: K. Henriques, H. Chu, D. Phinney, S. Spencer, C. Glenn, T. GREATER RESPONSIBILITIES SUMMON US

CLASS OF 1958

Standing: Miss Scherer, Advisor; Mr. Coffin, Advisor. Sitting: Lance Cooper, Treasurer; Patricia Cutter, Vice-president; Judy Lollis, Secretary; Michael Fosburg, President.

Room 110

In this our junior year we awakened to the fact that life was not just a bowl of cherries. We were getting up in the world and had to prepare to assume responsibilities.

With the approach of our senior year we had to meet the problem of raising money for our class. The corridors buzzed with enthusiasm as we prepared for our Junior Prom, which was both a financial and a social success. We also found that our gay record hop and our carnival booth boosted our growing treasury. Of course, our "key" officials, Mike Fosberg, President; Pat Cutter, Vice-president; Judy Lollis, Secretary; and Lance Cooper, Treasurer, had a hand in the success of these projects. The never-ending zeal of the Student Council was aided by Judy McNamara, the vice-president, and our members, Lance Cooper, Bo Chu, Joanne Herbold, Joe Donnelly, and John Schumacher.

The bleacher fans at the school's tense football and basketball games were led in many peppy cheers by Nance Garrity, Bunny Kensley, Joanne Herbold, Pat Cutter, Ruth Ann Parece, Judi Porter, Mary Ann Sainato, and Carolyn Sweeney, our class's contribution to the cheerleading squad. Directing the colorful band through its intricate formations was our energetic head majorette, Sheila Cass and two of her cute cohorts, Marilyn Munsey and Marion Maloon. Naturally, in order to generate enthusiasm, we also contributed such determined boys as John Schumacher, the leading ground-gainer, Russ Carlson, Bob Clements, Bill Stewart, and John Overton to the varsity football team, and Bill Tapply and Pete Lappin to the basketball squad. Our girls played equally hard and well on varsity field hockey, softball, basketball, and tennis squads.

How can we ever forget those chatty Driver Education classes with Mr. Knight where we learned how not to bang up our parents' car! And how could anyone help but hear our girls' moans as they resounded in the locker room after their famous modern dancing routines of painful bends and stretches! And no matter how hard we try, the source theme terror will haunt us for life! From the fatal day of picking subjects through the six weeks of reading, taking notes, writing, rewriting, and more reading, we burned the midnight oil every night. Poor Mrs. Creamer had a tremendous job of regulating the Library during junior research assignments. We'll never know how any teacher can smile as he says the words "source theme."

And now since we have completed such a profitable year in experience and education, we are looking forward to a terrific senior year.

OURS IS A CAREFREE WORLD

CLASS OF 1959

Standing: Richard Chapman, Vice-president; Mr. Rourke, Advisor; Ho Chu, Secretary. Sitting: Patricia Di-Simone, Treasurer; Paul Downey, President; Miss Wheeler, Advisor.

At last! Out of our bewildered world we have entered one of carefree progressiveness. We finally feel that we can add something definite to our expanding school. Our class officers, Paul Downey, President; Richard Chapman, Vice-president; Ho Chu, Secretary; and Patricia DeSimone, Treasurer, have contributed much to our success. This fine team has come up with many ideas for improving our class standing such as selling blue and gold shakers at football games to increase school spirit, holding two food sales, and by sponsoring a dance for the entire student body. Our homeroom representatives Nancy Baird, Judy King, John Dwyer, Ruth Morash, Janet Ross, Sandra Spears, and Marcia Worth really went to work representing us and helping to make our projects successful. Besides our homeroom representatives, we must mention our fine Student Council representatives Nancy Baird, Ho Chu, Paul Downey, Geraldine Fopiano, and Gretchen Miller. Each one of these enthusiastic students has been on at least one committee set up by the council to aid the school. We are also extremely well represented in the numerous and varied school clubs, as well as having one of our own, Sophomore French Club.

One thing we will always remember about these carefree days is Thanksgiving Day when Lexington turned the tide and beat our strongest rival Concord. Certainly we can claim definite part in this victory. John Dwyer and Mark Jensen were successful in making the first string of the varsity team. Also we provided a good number of alternate players, a vital part of any team. When it comes to spirit, we again proved our enthusiasm. Charlene Tropeano, a member of the varsity cheerleading squad, was right out there leading the crowd in many peppy cheers. Diana Crumb and Geraldine Fopiano, as perky drum majorettes, helped to keep up the morale of the fans when the battle became tense and closely contested.

In basketball, hockey, and baseball we made up a good portion of the all-important Junior Varsity teams. Some of our boys even saw occasional action on the varsity squad.

However, it was not only our boys who participated in sports. Many girls turned out to play field hockey, basketball, tennis, and softball. As with the boys, the girls were especially prominent on the junior varsity teams, although we did have one girl, Lydia DiAmicis, on the varsity field hockey team and twelve members on the combined junior varsity and varsity basketball team.

To the Freshmen we say, don't let the bewildered feeling get you down, next year will be much more satisfying. To the juniors and seniors who tell us we have yet to face the problems of life we say, maybe so. All we know is that this year we have been able to combine study, work, and fun to provide us with a carefree, happy, and successful year.

A BEWILDERING WORLD CHALLENGES US

Class of 1960

Standing: Mrs. West, Advisor; Mr. Franz, Advisor. Sitting: Lee Carlson, President; Marie Spinelli, Secretary; Patricia Thoren, Treasurer.

Room 14

Third row: K. Acker, J. Abell, R. Barr, P. Arnold, E. Acheson, J. Akin, P. Bacon, C. Balchunas. Second row: R. Antonelli, W. Baker, J. Adams, Mr. Knight, T. Baird, R. Baptiste, P. Perhaps we freshmen are small in stature and bewildered newcomers to high school life, but we've really come through in high spirits. Of course, we were surprised when we arrived in September. The idea of choosing our courses for the first time, the many clubs we could join, the exciting elections for class leaders, the pep rallies where everyone in the school cheered together, the many lunch shifts arranged so that we had only a little time to eat and chat, and many other events astonished us.

Even after we thought we had settled down into the routine of classes, X and L, more classes, and homework, all sprinkled with the laughter and ideas of our friends, we discovered that there were even more unusual events in store for us. Now we found ourselves taking library lessons to help us with our homework, and orientation classes to help us learn about the people around us. In spite of these many unexpected happenings we had time to make octopuses for our booth at "Carnival '56" and to correspond with a fourteen-year-old girl of Enterprise, Utah, a farming community of 950. Just think, there are only thirty-one students in her ninth grade, while there are three hundred and forty-two in ours. We were all relieved and overjoyed when the day finally came for us to move into our homerooms in the brand-new wing.

Lee Carlson, our class President; Marie Spinelli, our Secretary; and Pat Thoren, our Treasurer; have all helped us accomplish these many things by their never-ending enthusiasm. We waited anxiously for the results of the election for our three Student Council members until we discovered that we had wisely chosen James Kyle, Elizabeth Livingstone, and Richard Robbatt.

Our peppy cheerleaders, Pauline Borselli, Lee Kelly, Pat Thoren, Pat Goddard, Patsy Gallagher, Jean Flannery, Kris Press, Maureen Lollis, and Sally Neale, with Betty Livingstone, captain, led us on to victory in many of our football and basketball games. We burst into exuberant cheers when, after sitting on the edge of the bleachers for most of our football season, we discovered that our wonderful freshman team was undefeated. Dick Kinsman, Boudy Spiers, Boyd Robinson, Bruce Brinklow, Bill Caterino, and all the other enthusiastic boys on our teams did the work, however, even though we cheered them on. We were all delighted to see Joyce Sherlock and Nancy Govan, capable drum majorettes, help lead the famous Lexington High School Band, which included seventy-seven of our most musically-inclined fellow students.

Although we were new and bewildered at the beginning of the year, all these exciting events have brought our freshman year to a wonderful close, so we are sure that our succeeding years will be even more enjoyable and profitable.

Room 153

Bewildered by the overwhelming size of the Senior High School, J. Pitt, G. Woodall, and P. Osborne come to Miss Whelpley, Dean of Girls, with a question on school life.

These lockers must have been made for those great big tall Lexington basketball men, not for little five foot freshmen like L. Johnson, M. D'Abbraccio, and D. Stuart.

Room 156
